SYNOPSIS

GENRE:

Drama/Thriller

TAGLINE:

IF YOU CAN'T FEEL PAIN HOW DO YOU KNOW YOU'RE ALIVE?

LOGLINE:

Henry Long desperately seeks a cure for the rare condition that leaves him unable to feel physical pain.

SHORT SYNOPSIS:

Born with a rare condition that leaves him alienated and unable to feel physical pain, Henry Long becomes obsessed with finding a cure. His need for normalcy leads him down a dark path where he must decide if finding a cure is worth paying the ultimate price.

LONG SYNOPSIS:

Henry Long was born with a rare condition that leaves him unable to feel physical pain. Life for him is a daily struggle, never knowing when he might become seriously injured without realizing it, or worse, die from an internal injury he never knew existed. He lives in a constant state of fear and is completely alienated from those around him who cannot relate to his daily struggles.

Barricading himself in a world of science, Henry has dedicated his life to finding a cure so that he can one day know what it's like to feel 'normal.' When he discovers a promising drug that he is unable to obtain on his own, he gets involved with a dangerous scientist with a dark past and his own secret agenda. Henry must decide if his need for normalcy is worth paying the ultimate price before it's too late.

Based on actual medical science, Painless looks at the dark side of life with a rare condition and the challenges both symptomatic and social that people with these conditions face.

DIRECTOR'S VIEW

12

Jordan Horowitz

The idea for this film came to me after reading about a group of kids who were born with a condition that left them unable to feel physical pain. Unfortunately as a result, many of them ended up becoming seriously injured without realizing it, and dying from internal injuries they never even knew they had. I realized that pain is actually our first teacher. It teaches us how to protect ourselves from harm, and lets us know when something has gone wrong with our bodies so that we can address it.

I began to imagine the difficulties a character with this condition might face. I envisioned an overly cautious person, who's constantly testing his body's vital signs and checking himself for injury, and who always carries around a medical bag with him wherever he goes in case something bad were to happen to him. To him, everything is seen a potential threat. He sees himself as an outcast, and has completely shut himself off from the outside world. He's convinced himself that he will never be accepted until he's found a cure that will allow him to feel "normal."

Ultimately to me, this film is about acceptance, and learning to let go of the self imposed barriers we all create for ourselves that keep ourselves locked inside the prisons of our own minds.

CHEEK TO GEEK

GEEK NEWS & POINTS OF VIEW

"I love it. And from the very beginning this movie grabbed me...I probably haven't seen a silent montage that good since "Up."

"The biggest comparison that this should be compared to is "Awakenings."
And that was an Oscar winning film."

"It's one of those movies where I didn't even feel time pass. I think this is an incredible movie to check out."
